INSTRUCTIONS IN THE MATTER OF SCHOOL FUND LOANS.

To All County Auditors:

Briefly, I desire to direct your attention to the statute governing the school funds of the State and the duty you owe to your county in the safe and businesslike management of this fund.

The statute provides that every board of commissioners shall appoint men for appraisers who have had experience in real estate matters and know the value of real estate in their respective districts. The sum loaned shall not exceed one-half of the appraised value of the premises to be mortgaged. Perishable improvements may be accepted as a part of the security. If perishable improvements are accepted, the borrower is required to procure tornado and fire insurance, from a company duly authorized to transact business in this State, in a sum equal to sixty-six and two-thirds per cent. of the appraised value of such improvements (Sections 6232-6248 Burns, 1914).

The total amount of school funds charged to the several counties of the State and under the direct control of county auditors is $12,800,-187.26, nearly all of which is kept loaned at all times. Would a private corporation handle this enormous sum carelessly? Certainly not.

Two years ago we gave this fund our especial attention and the conditions found to exist were very unsatisfactory. In many respects gross negligence on the part of many auditors was evident; incorrect balances were found, descriptions of the property mortgaged defective; insurance policies had been allowed to lapse or had not been required.

In some counties the delinquent interest was greater than the principal sum loaned. The counties suffered financial losses by this neglect in that they were compelled to pay all interest due semiannually, besides the serious impairment of the principal of the various mortgages by reason of such large delinquences.

I am pleased to state that by close supervision by this department, with the co-operation of the county auditors, this condition has been materially improved, and it is earnestly desired to eventually find this fund as secure as moneys loaned by insurance and trust companies.

It is the duty of the county auditor to loan school funds of his county upon certain conditions. Many auditors have the impression they should loan one-half the appraised value of the property, regardless of its real value. This is an erroneous idea. An auditor should have personal knowledge of the property proposed to be mortgaged or he should make inquiry of some reliable person, and from his personal knowledge, or information, obtained from a reliable source, if he believes the loan to be undesirable, he is within his legal rights in refusing to make such loan, and he should exercise that right.

All interest should be collected within ninety days after the same becomes due, except in emergencies where the borrower or some member of his or her family is sick and in distress. In such cases, further reasonable time should be granted as an act of humanity. Please remember that all auditors are liable upon their official bonds for failure to make safe loans, as provided by statute.

On the first of June of each year every county auditor will be required to make a report to this department, showing the balance of school funds on hands not loaned, the amount of delinquent interest, the number and amount of insurance policies not in force, and the number of unsafe loans and the estimated amount of losses.

A blank form on which to make this report will be mailed to each county auditor during the month of May each year.

Field examiners will be instructed to carefully examine all school fund loans, as to their safety, whether all funds are kept loaned, prompt collection of interest, and fire insurance policies, where the improvement is accepted as a part of the security.

Yours very truly,

HISTORY AND DATA OF THE COMMON SCHOOL FUND OF INDIANA.

(Compiled by George Pence and I. D. Wiest, Field Examiners.)

In submitting a report of our examination and investigation of the Common School Fund of the State of Indiana we beg leave to say that, whereas, its beginning and foundation were provided for by the second constitution, that of 1851, we deem it wise to enter somewhat in detail and to record a concise mention of the several funds which comprise and produce the important factor of this state establishment.

Prior to the date of the ordinance fixing the 1851 constitution the General Assembly had legislated upon only three of the funds which under it, now, compose portions of the Common School Fund. These were the United States Surplus Revenue Fund, the Bank Tax Fund and the Saline Fund, which were distributed to the several counties to be loaned for the use of schools, and which funds will have especial mention herein.

It was not until 1843 (R. S., p. 252) that the several counties were made liable for the principal and annual interest for the United States Surplus Revenue Fund, which had been distributed to the counties in 1837, and the Bank Tax and Saline Funds, distributed in 1845. This is in explanation of the item of "Losses prior to 1843," which appears as a total deduction of $31,081.72, in our reports, made up in a number of the older counties.

The 1851 Constitution, under Article VIII, recites:

Education.

"Section 1. Knowledge and learning generally diffused throughout a community being essential to the preservation of a free government, it shall be the duty of the General Assembly to encourage, by all suitable means, moral, intellectual, scientific and agricultural improvement, and to provide by law for a general and uniform system of common schools, wherein tuition shall be without charge and equally open to all.

Sec. 2. The Common School Fund shall consist of the Congressional Township Fund and the lands belonging thereto; the Surplus Revenue Fund; the Saline Fund and the lands belonging thereto; the Bank Tax Fund and the fund arising from the one hundred and fourteenth section of the charter of the State Bank of Indiana; the fund to be derived from the sale of county seminaries, and the moneys and property heretofore held for such seminaries; from the fines assessed for breaches of the penal laws of the State; and from all forfeitures which may accrue; all lands and other estate which shall escheat to the State for want of heirs or kindred entitled to the inheritance; all lands that have been or may hereafter be granted to the State, where no special purpose is expressed in the grant and the proceeds of the sales thereof; including the proceeds of the sales of the swamp lands granted to the State of Indiana by the act of Congress, of the 28th of September, 1850, after deducting the expense of selecting and draining the same; taxes on the property of corporations that may be assessed by the General Assembly for common school purposes.

Sec. 3. The principal of the Common School Fund shall remain a perpetual fund, which may be increased, but shall never be diminished; and the income thereof shall be inviolably appropriated to the support of common schools, and to no other purpose whatever.

Sec. 4. The General Assembly shall invest, in some safe and profitable manner, all such portions of the Common School Fund as have not heretofore been entrusted to the several counties; and shall make provisions, by law, for the distribution, among the several counties, of the interest thereof.

Sec. 5. If any county shall fail to demand its proportion of such interest for common school purposes, the same shall be reinvested for the benefit of such county.

Sec. 6. The several counties shall be held liable for the preservation of so much of the said fund as may be entrusted to them, and for the payment of the annual interest thereon.

Sec. 7. All trust funds held by the State shall remain inviolate and be faithfully and exclusively applied to the purposes for which the trust was created.

Sec. 8. The General Assembly shall provide for the election, by the voters of the State, of a State Superintendent of Public Instruction, who shall hold his office for two years, and whose duties and compensation shall be prescribed by law."

The General Assembly, under an act approved June 14, 1852, attempted to provide for the Common School Fund in:

"An act to provide for a general and uniform system of common schools, and school libraries connected therewith."

Under Section 2 of the act, in line with the new constitution, was merged the Congressional Township Fund with the Common School Fund.

The files in the office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, embracing the county auditor's reports for the years 1852, 1853 and 1854, show the Congressional Township Fund merged into the Common School Fund, agreeable to the 1852 act.

Following these years came a separation of the two funds, which was, no doubt, caused by a decision of the Supreme Court at its November term, 1854, which was taken up from the Franklin circuit court, entitled "The State of Indiana et al. vs. Springfield Township in Franklin County." (6 Ind., p. 83.)

It appears that the school section 16 of township 9 north, range 1 west, composing the civil township of Springfield, had been sold for $7,423.36 and that under the act of 1852 merging the funds deprived appellant, an inhabitant of that township, from money due him when the income from such principal went into the Common School Fund.

The Supreme Court decided that the school law of 1852, so far as it diverts the proceeds of the sale of Section No. 16 from the use of schools in such congressional townships to the use of schools at large, to be in contravention of Section 7 of Article 8 of the constitution.

In other words, the constitution, as to the Congressional Fund, in Article 8, Section 2, is inoperative.

The Legislature of 1855, by an act approved March 5, 1855, cured the unconstitutional act of 1852 by:

"An act to provide for a general system of common schools, the officers thereof and their respective duties, and matters properly connected therewith, and to establish township libraries and for the regulation thereof."

The act repeated the former composition of funds belonging to the Common School Fund, except as to the Congressional Township Fund.

May, 1856, the Supreme Court, in the case of Quick vs. Whitewater Township, taken up from Franklin circuit court, decided that the 1855 act conformed to the spirit of the constitution in the mode of distributing the school funds among the several townships. It was in this case that the matter of "distribution" was settled, viz:

"The constitution requires that interest derived from Congressional Township Fund shall be distributed to or remain with the congressional townships, alike unequally as the fund itself is unequal, as between such townships; and also, that the proceeds of the entire Common School Fund shall be so distributed as to produce equality and uniformity in the school system throughout the State, therefore the proceeds of said fund, other than interest on Congressional Township Fund, must be distributed unequally in order to produce equality."

The next act relating to the Common School Fund was passed by the General Assembly at its regular session of 1861 (see Acts Reg. 1861, p. 68), to wit:

"An act to provide for a general system of common schools, the officers thereof and their respective powers and duties, and matters connected therewith, and for the establishment and regulation of township libraries, and to repeal all laws inconsistent therewith," Approved March 11, 1861.

The act repeated the act of 1855, relative to the composition of the Common School Fund, except by a ruling that its repealing feature affected the law of 1841, which provided that all "unclaimed fees for witness, juror, commissioner or any officer, who should not have duly demanded same, should be paid annually to the school commissioner, to be loaned by him for the benefit of the township schools of his county."

The act was interpreted to mean that these "unclaimed fees" accrued, under the act, to the State's Common School Fund, instead of that of the county where made.

The next act relating to the subject was that approved March 6, 1865, entitled:

"An act to provide for a general system of common schools, the officers thereof and their respective powers and duties and matters properly connected therewith, and prescribing their fees for certain officers, therein named, and for the establishment and regulation of township libraries, and to repeal all laws inconsistent therewith, and providing penalties therein prescribed."

The files and records in the office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction of the years 1856 to 1865, inclusive, are found to be incomplete and meager.

At the special session of 1865, under the act approved December 21, 1865, provisions were made to put that office on a systematic business basis and to determine the actual condition of the Congressional Township Funds of each county and to establish the amount of the Common School Fund of the State.

This act is entitled, to wit:

"An act requiring county auditors to make examination of the records in relation to school funds, and make report, and providing compensation therefor, and declaring an emergency."

Section 2 required the county auditor to forward such report to the Superintendent of Public Instruction on or before the third Monday in June, 1866, for his approval, and when approved, to be recorded in his office, and to notify the county auditors of such approval; "and said statements, when so approved, shall be taken as conclusive evidence of the facts therein contained."

Twenty-four years after the passage of the act the clause, "shall be taken as conclusive evidence of the facts therein contained," at May term, 1889, of the Supreme Court, was declared to be unconstitutional. This in the case of Board of Commissioners vs. State ex rel. Michener, taken up from Howard circuit court.

Under date of February 15, 1866, Superintendent of Public Instruction George W. Hoss sent out his official request to county auditors as authorized under the act of December 21, 1865, for reports of condition of school funds, which, in time, were accepted and recorded in his office.

These recorded accepted reports of 1866 are the basic amounts used by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, and in our investigation have been checked, proven and corrected, and the balances from the third Monday in June, 1866, to May 31, 1917, have been proven, and are shown in the several schedules by funds and counties in our report herewith.

A history of the make-up and origin of the several funds comprising the Common School Fund of the State follows:

The U. S. Surplus Revenue.

During the presidential term of Jackson, in the year 1835, the United States Treasury found itself free from debt, having paid the claims of the two wars with England and the purchase money for Louisiana, and held a surplus of some $42,000,000 in its possession. After several months of debate in Congress, on the motion of Daniel Webster, in the Senate, an act was passed providing:

"That the money which shall be in the Treasury of the United States on January 1, 1837, reserving $5,000,000, shall be deposited with each of the several States, in proportion to their representatives in the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, as shall by law authorize their treasurers, or other competent authority, to receive the same on the terms hereinafter specified, and to be paid in four installments."

The terms were to be: An official receipt and the obligation of each State to return and pay back such deposit on the demand of the Secretary of the United States Treasury in sums not to exceed $10,000 at any one month, without previous notice of thirty days, for every additional $20,000, which at any time may be required.

The act was approved June 23, 1836.

Under act of the General Assembly, approved December 21, 1836, the State Treasurer was authorized to receive and receipt for the amount to which the State was entitled, and under Section 2 of the act provided:

"That the State of Indiana hereby irrevocably pledges her faith to the United States that she will faithfully keep and repay the said moneys, and every part thereof, from time to time, whenever the same shall be required by the Secretary of the Treasury, for the purposes mentioned in said act of Congress, and upon the conditions therein named."

Under an act of the General Assembly, approved February 6, 1837, it was provided that one-half of said revenue shall be funded in the respective organized counties of the State and distributed upon the number of polls for the year 1836.

Agents for each county were to be annually appointed by the General Assembly, who were to loan these distributions, and to turn the interest collected over to the school commissioner of his county for distribution to the townships for school purposes.

Section 28 provided that the remaining half to be subscribed and paid over as stock on the part of the State for additional branches of the State Bank, and that any part of the State's money remaining unapplied was to be loaned out by the sinking fund commissioners, under the restrictions and regulations governing the loans of the Sinking Fund.

Under the Federal act $37,561,205 were to be "deposited" with the twenty-six existing States of the Union, of which Indiana's share was to be four installments of $286,751.48, in all $1,147,005.92.

The old cash blotter of former State Treasurer Palmer shows the receipt of the first installment, $286,751.48, under date of January 25, 1837. February 11, 1837, the second installment was paid; and the third installment was paid to the treasurer on June 9, 1837. The three payments were made through the branches of the state bank at New Albany, Madison and Lawrenceburg, and amounted in all to $860,254.44.

The fourth installment, by reason of the depleted condition of the United States Treasury, was never "deposited," and by an act of Congress in 1839 it was permanently postponed.

The records show that the third installment of $286,751.48 was paid over to the sinking fund commissioners.

The act of February 6, 1837, provided for a distribution to "all counties formed at this time." Jasper, Pulaski, Starke and Whitley, each erected in the year 1835, for some reason, did not participate in the distribution.

Blackford, erected from Jay in 1838, received from the parent $694.92; Ohio, erected from Dearborn in 1844, received from the parent $3,330.33.

Dekalb and Wells, erected in 1835, and Lake in 1836, did not receive their shares with the others, and not until by a special law, approved January 24, 1842, when the State Treasurer was authorized to collect the surplus revenue and pay to the county agents of those counties the allotted amount to each, $2,125.60.

Benton, erected in 1840; Tipton and Howard (formerly called Rich-ardville) in 1844, and Newton in 1859, were not participants in the United State Surplus Revenue Fund.

In all $573,502.45 were distributed, as shown by our schedules herewith.

The Revised Statutes of 1843 recites:

"Sec. 92. The surplus revenue shall, as heretofore, consist of the moneys deposited by the United States which was distributed by the State under the act of 6th of February, 1837."

"Sec. 97. The several counties shall be held liable for the preservation of said fund, and the annual interest thereon, at the rate established by law."

In the makeup of the 1866 adjustment of the Common School Fund, losses made on account of the United States Surplus Revenue Fund prior to 1843 in twenty-one counties, amounting to $21,554.37, were allowed as a deduction.

Later, under act approved March 7, 1873, Scott was allowed to correct for losses prior to 1843 in the sum of $2,767.63, and Wayne, under the same act, in the sum of $3,617.04. Making a total deduction account of losses prior to 1843 of $27,939.04.

There are two more items of deduction in our schedules which do not belong to the United States Surplus Revenue Fund, to wit: Parke county, seminary claims, 1851, deducted $2,962.08; and Hendricks county, an erroneous credit of funds $180, "by order of court," making a total deduction, as per our schedules, of $31,081.12.

That part of the fund handled by the sinking fund commissioners will have mention under the caption of "The Sinking Fund."

Bank Tax Fund.

This fund was created under the act of January 28, 1834, by which was granted a charter to the State Bank of Indiana.

This institution was to operate for twenty-five years and one-half of the stock was subscribed for and owned by the State of Indiana, the other moiety by citizens of the State, resident in the districts where branches were to be located.

Section 15 recites: "There shall be deducted from the dividends, and retained by the bank, each year, the sum of twelve and a half cents on each share of stock, other than that held by the State, which shall constitute part of the permanent fund to be devoted to purposes of common school education, under direction of the General Assembly, and shall be suffered to remain in bank and accumulate until such appropriation by the General Assembly, and said tax shall be in lieu of all other taxes and assessments on the stock in said bank."

By a joint resolution of the General Assembly, approved February 18, 1839, it was made the duty of the State Bank, and its several branches, to pay over to the Treasurer of State all money on hand arising from the tax on shares of individual stockholders of the State Bank of Indiana; the State Treasurer to loan such fund, as other moneys in his hands, for school purposes.

The report of the Auditor of State for 1859, the year of the expiration of the charter of the bank, shows that the total tax thus received from the State Bank and its branches was $80,482.05.

Under an act approved January 12, 1845, the Treasurer of State was required to make annual apportionments to the several counties of the Bank Tax Fund (and of the Saline Fund).

The act also provided that the counties should be liable to the townships for the preservation of the fund, and declaring it to be a common school fund.

Our investigation shows that for the years 1845 to 1853, inclusive, $55,959.30 was distributed to the several counties as shown in our schedules herewith, the balance of the tax being later merged with the Sinking Fund and distributed as such.

The Saline Fund.

At the Corydon Convention, concluded June 29, 1816, one of the items in the proposal of the United States Congress to the convention was the grant of thirty-six sections of lands containing salt springs, with the adjacent land to work them. This proposal was accepted by the convention and later thirty-five sections were located in the county of Orange, at French Lick, together with smaller tracts located in Washington, Dubois, Monroe and Brown counties, and were known as "the Saline Lands."

The salt springs were worked without success for several years, when, at the 1832 session of the General Assembly, a memorial was addressed to Congress, praying to sell the lands "for the purposes of education."

By an act of Congress, approved July 3, 1832, the prayer of the memorial was granted, with the proviso:

"That the Legislature shall not authorize a sale of the said land at a less price than that at which public lands are sold at private entry."

Under an act of the General Assembly, approved February 2, 1833, the saline lands were placed upon the market by the appointment of commissioners and appraisers.

The choice lands were sold, and in 1852 the General Assembly again memorialized Congress to permit the lands to be sold at a less price.

Congress, under an act approved July 12, 1852, repeals her act of 1832 and grants the prayer of the petition.

Under provisions of an act approved May 20, 1852, the saline lands remaining unsold were placed under the care and supervision of the auditor of the county where they were located.

Later, under an act approved March 1, 1855, the auditors were directed to offer at public sale all saline lands remaining unsold and all not sold to be subject to public entry.

Under the same act, providing for the apportionment of the Bank Tax Fund, approved January 12, 1845, the Treasurer of State was required to make annual appropriations of the Saline Fund to the several counties, making the county liable to the townships for the preservation of the fund, and declaring it a common school fund.

Our investigations show that $48,849.57 was distributed to the counties during the years 1845 to 1853, as are shown in our schedules herewith.

Later the proceeds were merged with the Sinking Fund and distributed as such.

The Seminary Fund.

Article IX, Section 2 of the 1816 Constitution reads: "It shall be the duty of the General Assembly, as soon as circumstances will permit, to provide by law for a general system of education, ascending in a regular gradation from township schools to a state university, where tuition shall be gratis and equally open to all."

Two years later the State Legislature passed a "County Seminary Law." In course of time many laws were passed, but as the only legislated accrement or support was through fines paid for breaches of the peace laws and from the "conscience money" which was paid by the Friends, who were opposed to militia duty. The seminary, or secondary, process of schools was not popular. Thus at the time, 1851, of the framing of the second constitution it can be seen, particularly in the "Constitutional Debates," that the county seminary was unpopular with the country members, who denounced it as an "advanced district school for the benefit of the county seat." With this feeling it can easily be seen why the 1851 delegates framed their constitution so as to include the sale of seminaries and included the Seminary Fund in the Common Fund.

On June 12, 1852, the General Assembly legislated and ordered the sale of all county seminaries, and that the proceeds, after deducting the necessary expenses and amount due to individuals for advances made, should be placed by the treasurer to the credit of the "Common Fund."

The Governor of Indiana, Joseph A. Wright, in his message to the 1851-2 Legislature, estimated the proceeds of such sales at $100,000. Our reckoning on the reported sales, as per makeup of 1866, is $101,587.94.

In the Supreme Court, November term, 1862, the act of June 12, 1852, in Edwards vs. Jagers et al., 19 Ind. 407, Appeal from Switzerland County, the constitutional provision relating to sale of seminaries was declared void and unconstitutional, as being contrary to the tenth section of the first article of the United States Constitution, in impairing the obligations of contracts.

In another case the Supreme Court, May term, 1863, in Heaton vs. Board of Commissioners, Randolph County, 20 Ind. 398, Appeal from Randolph County, it was held that neither the constitutional nor statutory provisions referred to abolish the seminary corporations, but continue them in existence, at least until they actually sold and vested its property in the purchaser.

No further legislation or court decisions appear, and the several counties waived their rights as determined by the two decisions.

As a matter of local historical information we deem it wise to include the following school and seminary data, obtained from the local laws:

- 1816. December 27, Harrison county. Seminary incorporated.
- 1820. January 11, Jefferson county. Madison Academy to increase number of trustees.
- 1820. January 20, State Seminary incorporated at Bloomington.
- 1820. January 20, Seminary township land controlled by a superintendent.
- 1823. January 9, Dearborn county. Seminary incorporated.
- 1824. January 2, Knox county: "Whereas, It is represented to this General Assembly that the Vincennes University, incorporated in the year 1807, did, by an act of incorporation, sell a quantity of land appropriated by Congress, for the use and support of a public school, in the district of Vincennes. With the proceeds of the said sale a building was erected at Vincennes for the use of said university, and which said building is rapidly decaying for want of funds to repair the same; therefore, That said university be and is hereby adopted as the county seminary of Knox county."
- 1824. January 2, Washington county. Salem Grammar School incorporated.
- 1825. February 7, Union county. Seminary established.
- 1825. February 12, Knox county. Supplemental act concerning seminary. Prosecuting attorneys to examine condition of all county seminaries.
- 1826. January 13, Dearborn county. Cambridge Academy incorporated.
- 1826. January 21, Gibson county. Seminary incorporated.
- 1826. January 21, Orange county. Seminary incorporated.
- 1827. January 26. County seminaries established in Wayne, Franklin, Henry, Rush, Randolph, Allen, Vigo, Daviess, Martin, Madison, Hamilton and Sullivan by their circuit courts.
- 1827. January 24, Washington county. Seminary incorporated.
- 1827. Harrison county. Seminary incorporated.
- 1827. January 23, Knox county authorized to appoint trustees.
- 1827. January 27, Fayette county. Seminary incorporated.
- 1827. January 26, Clark county. Seminary incorporated.
- 1828. January 24, Indiana College at Bloomington incorporated.
- 1828. January 21, Gibson county. Direct tax for county seminary.
- 1828. January 24, Knox county. Laws for government of seminaries.
- 1828. January 19, Switzerland county. Seminary incorporated.
- 1828. January 24, loan office established to loan seminary funds.
- 1828. January 28, general law as to seminaries already established.
- 1828. December 18, Switzerland county. Seminary act amended.
- 1829. January 1, Cass county. Eel River Seminary incorporated.
- 1829. January 6, Jefferson county. Hanover Academy incorporated.
- 1829. December 30, Rising Sun. Seminary Society incorporated.
- 1829. December 31, Eugene Seminary incorporated.
- 1829. December 25, Clark county. Seminary act. January 26, 1827, amended.
- 1830. January 22, Franklin county. Seminary incorporated.
- 1830. January 11, Jefferson county. Seminary Society incorporated.
- 1830. January 29, Union county. Seminary trustees authorized to execute a deed.

- 1830. January 18, Greencastle. Seminary Society incorporated.

The Revised Statutes of 1838, Chapter LIII, includes a law, approved February 17, 1838, for the appointment of an inspector by the board doing county business, and provides for the inspection, grading and branding barreled salt, flour, pork and tobacco. Any erasure or alteration of such inspector's brand, upon conviction, is liable to a fine of $50.00, one-half to the prosecutor and one-half to the use of the county seminary.

Swamp Lands.

These lands, 1,252,708.21 acres, selected as swamp and overflowed lands, under the act of Congress, approved September 28, 1850, are situated in seventy-two counties of the State.

Under the provision of acts approved February 14, 1851; May 29, 1852; June 14, 1852; March 4, 1853, and subsequent acts, these lands were put upon the market and sold at $1.25 per acre.

Our investigation covered a period of fifty-nine years, and the abstracting of over 35,000 tracts of lands.

The total proceeds of sales were.....	$1,763,251 16
Total disbursements	1,694,279 26

Net gain to Common School Fund.....	$68,971 90
-------------------------------------	-------------

Which has been distributed to the several counties, viz.:

Included in the non-negotiable note of 1873, which was distributed in 1889.....	$38,077 59
Distributed in 1908	27,395 30
Distributed in January, 1917.....	3,499 01

Total	$68,971 90

All of these moneys have been merged into the Sinking Fund and have been distributed under that head.

The Sinking Fund.

This fund was created under the act to establish the State Bank of Indiana, approved January 28, 1834.

Section 113 of the act created a fund to be called the Sinking Fund, to consist of all unapplied balances of the loans procured on the part of its stock in the bank, or for the purpose of being loaned to stockholders to meet their payment of stock installments; the semiannual payments of interest on stock loans, and the sums received in payment for same; the dividends accruing to the State's shares, and to other stockholders as shall be paid by loans made by the State and not repaid by the stockholders.

Section 114 provided for the profits of the State Bank, which under the 1851 Constitution becomes a parcel of the Common School Fund. It is as follows: "Sec. 114. The principal and interest of said Sinking Fund shall be reserved and set apart for the purpose of liquidating and paying off the loan or loans and the interest thereon, that shall be negotiated on the part of the State for the payment of its stock in the State Bank, and the second and third installments on the shares of the other stockholders in said bank, and shall not be expended for any other purpose, until said loan or loans, and the interest thereon, and incidental expenses shall have been fully paid; and after the payment of said loan or loans, the interest and expenses, the residue of said fund shall be a permanent fund, and appropriated to the cause of common school education in such manner as the General Assembly shall hereafter direct."

As before mentioned, by the act, the capital was fixed at $1,600,000 in $50 shares, of which the State subscribed for and owned one-half, and the charter was to continue until January 1, 1859.

Section 115 provided that the president and directors on the part of the State, all of whom were selected by the General Assembly, should constitute a standing board of commissioners of the Sinking Fund.

The charter of the State Bank expiring on January 1, 1859, by an act approved January 15, 1859, provisions were made to continue the operations of the Sinking Fund by creating a Board of Sinking Fund Commissioners, consisting of a president and four commissioners, to be elected by the General Assembly, and the former board required to make a full and final settlement with the Governor, Auditor and Treasurer of State.

Under an act approved March 1, 1859, the first distribution of the Sinking Fund was made to the counties, based upon the enumeration listed for school purposes, and it was declared that from and after the distribution the Sinking Fund Commissioners should cease to be.

The new board was continued until the General Assembly, by an act, approved March 11, 1867, when the custody and management of the Sinking Fund was transferred to the Auditor of State.

The distribution to counties ordered by the act of 1859, by our investigation and as shown in our schedules herewith, amounted to $250,942.63.

To equalize as to former distributions of United States surplus revenue, bank tax and saline funds the following counties did not participate in the 1859 distribution, viz: Allen, Fayette, Fountain, Gibson, Jefferson, Knox, Lawrence, Montgomery, Putnam, St. Joseph, Union, Vanderburgh, Vermillion and Wayne.

NOTE: Newton county had not been erected until this year, 1859.

To prove the assertion that the management was honest, a business-like and successful handling of these funds by the two boards of commissioners from 1834 to 1867, inclusive, we record that the balance sheet of the retiring board, on October 31, 1867, shows a profit which accrued to the Common School Fund of $4,647,016.17.

This amount included the augmentation of $286,751.48 profits on account of their handling of the third installment of the United States surplus revenue, which was turned over to the Sinking Fund Commissioners in 1837.

A mention should be here made and credit given to the mover of the motion, in conference committee of the General Assembly of 1834, which resulted in a gain to the Common School Fund of the monumental sum of nearly $5,000,000.

It was on the motion, in compromise, of Hon. John Beard, the member from Montgomery count.

In 1859 the State began to borrow the moneys of the several trust funds, for which, by several acts of the General Assembly, non-negotiable notes, bearing interest, were signed by the Governor and Auditor, held by the Treasurer and payable to the Common School Fund.

On October 3, 1871, non-negotiable bonds of the State amounting to $3,666,845.88 had been issued and unpaid.

Under an act approved February 21, 1871, the act of 1867, relative to the investment of incoming funds in state stocks, was amended that such moneys should be distributed to the counties.

The distribution for 1871 was held up by injunction suits filed in the Marion circuit and superior courts, but upon appeal to the Supreme Court the Auditor of State was sustained by the court. (See Shoemaker, Auditor of State, et al. vs. Smith et al., 37 Ind., p. 122. Appeal from Marion Circuit Court.)

Under the confirmed act a distribution of the Sinking Fund was made by the Auditor of State, viz:

In 1872 $569,147.04, as shown by our schedules herewith.

On October 31, 1872, the Auditor shows the total profits accruing to the Common School Fund to be $4,753,763.76 from the Sinking Fund.

Under act approved March 11, 1873, all balances of trust moneys in the hands of the State belonging to the Sinking Fund, Saline Fund, Bank Tax Fund, Swamp Land Fund and estates without heirs, were consolidated in a non-negotiable note of $176,573.42, payable to the Common School Fund.

A distribution to the counties was made during this year amounting to $66,244.70, as exhibited in our schedules herewith.

No further distributions were made to the counties until 1889, the State paying interest on the $3,904,783.22 of non-negotiable notes, an annual payment of $234,286.99 paid into the common school revenue at 6 per cent. per annum.

By an act approved March 8, 1889, the Governor, Auditor and Treasurer were authorized to negotiate a twenty-year loan for $3,905,000.00 to pay off the school debt of the State, to bear the rate of 3½ per cent. interest.

This loan was completed through the efforts of Governor Hovey, and the proceeds were distributed to the several counties, in the year 1889, the gigantic amount of $3,904,783.22, as shown in our schedules herewith.

The next distribution of Sinking Fund was made under an act approved February 25, 1907, which was a clean-up of balances of old accounts connected with and belonging to the Common School Fund embracing "common school balance," "old Sinking Fund," "surplus revenue," "excess bid Sinking Fund," "sales common school lands" and "sales swamp lands," together with "unclaimed estates." The last item will have mention under another head.

This distribution was not made to the counties until the following year, and amounted to $45,546.54, as shown in the schedules herewith.

Our analysis of the distribution shows a make-up of the following accounts:

United States surplus revenue.....	$500 00
Sinking Fund	467 78
Excess bids, Sinking Fund.....	1,933 25
Saline Fund	1,293 94
State school lands	11,833 86
Swamp lands	27,395 30
Fines and forfeitures	400 00
Unclaimed fees	149 91
Veterinarian fees, excess	8 82
Miscellaneous	1,558 68
	$45,546 54

There were no further distributions made to the counties until January, 1917, and by reason of the mingling of a number of items in it, we have included this with the other "Sinking Fund" account.

Our analysis of the distribution shows a make-up of the following accounts:

State school lands	$25,791 91
Swamp lands	3,499 01
Escheated estates	7,684 15
Unclaimed fees	106 42
Optometry fees, surplus	965 17
Hydrophobia fees, excess	3,410 25
Miscellaneous	286 73
	<hr/> $41,743 64

This closes the distribution by the State to the several counties from 1837 to January, 1917, a total of $4,978,407.77 for the eighty years.

However, in September, 1917, another distribution was made to the counties by the Auditor of State amounting to $67,823.25.

While this does not come within the period of our investigation, yet we deem it wise to mention it, as it will appear on the Auditor's reports for the several counties to the Superintendent of Public Instruction of May 31, 1918.

Our analysis of this distribution shows a make-up of the following items:

Unclaimed estates	$65,764 09
Sale of State lands	2,059 16
	<hr/> $67,823 25

State School Lands.

The constitution provides an item of "all lands that have been, or may hereafter be, granted to the State where no special purpose is expressed in the grant and the proceeds of the sales thereof."

The moneys credited on account of sales of "School Fund lands" embrace what is called the "Beaver Lake lands," the "Michael G. Bright lands," the "Kankakee Meander lands," "Meander lands of receded inland lakes" and "Reclaimed lands, shore of Lake Michigan."

In the United States Land Survey of Indiana appears a large lake situated in Newton county, called Beaver lake, which contained over 17,000 acres in area.

Two men, one of them a former state official, bought all of the lands fringing the lake under the swamp land act.

These parties, under a claim of riparian ownership, proceeded to drain the lake, it being found that there was a forty-foot fall to the Kankakee river, four miles northwesterly.

Later, Michael G. Bright became owner of a moiety of these lands when they were subdivided into forty-acre tracts, and he as surety to the State for the former official, the State became owner, by transfer, of all unsold tracts of the Beaver Lake subdivision, together with other lands, which, when sold, a portion of the proceeds went into the School Fund.

The "Kankakee Meander lands" comprise the land lying between the meander line, surveyed in 1833, of the Kankakee river and the present shore line of that river, which has receded by drainage of the stream. A considerable quantity of the meander land has been sold by the State, and the title to other tracts is now being tested in the local courts in the celebrated "Tuesburg Land Company" case.

All proceeds of sales have been credited to the State school lands.

The meander lands of receded inland lakes are of the same nature as the Kankakee meander lands, being the area lying between the United States Survey meander line and the present shore line of such lakes. The proceeds of sales, though few, have gone to the credit of State school lands.

The proceeds of the last three accounts have been mingled on the books of the Auditor of State as "State school lands," but total $34,322.06, and were distributed to the counties under the mingled Sinking Fund, to wit:

$11,838 86.	Distributed in 1908.
22,483 28.	Distributed in January, 1917.
$34,322 14

In addition $485.80 was distributed in September, 1917, which is not included in this report.

The "Reclaimed land, shore of Lake Michigan," are paid for at the rate of $50 per acre, agreeably to the act approved March 2, 1907.

The act allows owners along the shore line to reclaim these lands and the proceeds, under an opinion of the Attorney-General, have been credited to the State school lands.

Our investigation shows proceeds of sales of these to be $3,308.71, which was included in the distribution of January, 1917.

In addition there was $1,573.36 distributed September, 1917, which is not included in this report.

Escheated Estates.

This constitutional item of the Common School Fund has appeared on the ledgers of the Auditor of State since 1828, and our investigation in 1916, covering eighty-eight years, shows the account under the headings, "Estates Without Heirs," "Escheated Estates" and "Unclaimed Estates." The Revised Statutes of 1824 make the first provision of these estates to be appropriated to the Common School Fund of the county where the estate was situated, and thus remained the law under the old constitution.

Under the constitution of 1851 the escheats accrued to the State's Common School Fund.

Under the provision of an act approved February 25, 1907, the Attorney-General was directed to institute suit in the Marion Superior Court against all known or unknown heirs, whose estates are carried on the treasurer's books as "Unclaimed Estates," and all remaining after a lapse of five years should become a part of the Common School Fund.

Prior to 1916, the time of our investigation, but one credit had been made under the constitutional provision, viz: April 25, 1873, $17,066.55, which amount was included in the non-negotiable note, $176,573.42, of the State to the Common School Fund.

Another amount, $7,684.15, was included in the distribution of January, 1917.

This was invoked as a result of our investigation. Our investigation of 1916 resulted in a showing of a balance for clearance of title of $63,058.54, which was included in the distribution of September, 1917, and is not embraced in the fund covered for the period of this report.

In addition to the above, the sum of $41,806.11 remains as a balance of collections collected prior to April 30, 1916.

It was held by the Supreme Court in a case taken up from Knox county, under Section 2, in Article VIII of the Constitution, "It is the fund to be derived from the sale of the escheated real estate and not such real estate itself, which becomes part of the Common School Fund." State ex rel. Attorney-General vs. Meyer, 63 Ind., p. 33.

Corporation Taxes.

The closing item in the constitutional provisions is, "Taxes on the property of corporations that may be assessed by the General Assembly for common school purposes."

The only mention where the State attempted to exercise this constitutional right to collect a corporation tax, after a prolonged fight in the highest courts, resulted in a failure.

On January 26, 1847, the General Assembly gave a charter to the Terre Haute and Richmond Railroad. One of the provisions in the charter was that after the earnings should reach the full amount invested and ten per centum thereon, and after other conditions, the Legislature might regulate tolls and freights not to exceed fifteen per centum and the surplus, if any, should be paid over to the Treasurer of State for the use of the Common School Fund.

In 1851, the Legislature allowed the company to abandon that portion of the chartered road from Indianapolis to Richmond.

As early as 1867, the matter began to take shape, and in 1872 proceedings were started in the Putnam Circuit Court to collect the tax, with a mistrial, on change of venue, in the Owen Circuit Court.

This railroad case became a chronic matter of public and legislative discussion, but it was not until 1897 that the matter became at issue in the Marion Superior Court, through the efforts of Attorney-General Ketcham against the Indianapolis and Terre Haute Railroad.

This case resulted in a judgment against the company for $913,000. An appeal to the Supreme Court was taken by the company and the judgment was affirmed by the court in 159 Ind., p. 438.

The company then took an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court, where the cause was decided May 31, 1904, "that the original charter having been surrendered, the Legislature could not therefore impose an obligation upon the company by virtue of power contained in the surrendered charter." (See 194 U. S. 579, T. H. & I. R. R. Co. vs. Indiana ex rel. Ketcham.)

Attorney-General Ketcham attempted to amend the complaint in the Indiana Supreme Court, but the court held that the decision in the U. S. Supreme Court was binding on the Indiana court. (166 Ind., p. 580. State, ex rel. Ketcham, vs. T. H. & I. R. R. Co.)

Fines and Forfeitures.

One of the constitutional items accruing to the Common School Fund is "from fines assessed for breaches of the penal laws of the State." Under this act this becomes a local matter in the county where the fine is assessed and paid, and is reported in the annual report of the Auditor to the Superintendent of Public Instruction. Our investigation shows that the accretion to the fund since 1852 is the enormous sum of $3,586,834.92.

The blank furnished by the Superintendent of Public Instruction also includes the item, "Amount since received from all other sources." This, in the earlier reports, appears to have been a dumping place for receipts by the county auditor, and no doubt the amount determined in our investigation, $246,662.84, contains amounts covering "fines and forfeitures," which could not be identified.

STATUTORY ACCRETIONS.

In addition to the constitutional provisions there are a number of statutory provisions which are in favor of the Common School Fund, which will now have mention.

Michigan Road Land Funds.

By an act approved June 18, 1852, all the funds then on hand denominated Michigan road land funds, in the hands of the Treasurer of State, and all funds hereafter coming into the hands of the Treasurer from the sale of any unsold Michigan road lands, shall hereafter constitute a part of the Common School Fund.

These lands were embraced in a treaty, October 23, 1826, as a donation of 169,680 acres, with the Pottowottomie Indians to construct a road, 100 feet in width, from Lake Michigan via Indianapolis to a convenient point on the river Ohio.

The road was laid out from Michigan City via Indianapolis, Greensburg, Napoleon to Madison, which was built from the proceeds of sales of the donated lands.

We have not been able to discover any accretions to the Common School Fund by the 1852 act.

However, in an investigation of the Michigan road lands, we found a tract of 80 acres from which the State has not parted its title, and which, when followed up, may result in an accretion to the fund.

Coroner's Find of Property.

Under an act of 1852 (2 R. S. 1852, p. 13), it was provided that money found on dead bodies, after one year, the county treasurer should loan same at interest at not less than seven per cent per annum, to be applied to common schools, and to be equally divided among the townships of the county.

This section was amended under an act approved March 13, 1913, so that such moneys which should not be called for within one year from the time of receiving same, the Treasurer shall place the same to the credit of the Common School Fund, and further provided that where any such moneys are loaned out, said money, principal and interest, shall become a part of the Common School Fund of the State.

These moneys are listed in the Auditor's annual report to the Superintendent of Public Instruction, under the head of "Other Items."

Estrays and Articles Adrift.

The origin of this item was under the old constitution in an act approved January 15, 1844, and the law was renewed by re-enactment in 1852, under the 1851 constitution. (See 1 R. S. 1852, p. 276.) This item is listed by the county auditor, in his May 31st annual report to the Superintendent of Public Instruction, under the head of "Other Items."

In the case of Board of Commissioners of Tippecanoe County vs. The State, ex rel. Attorney-General, November term, 1883, it was decided that the act is not inconsistent with the constitution, and the moneys arising from the sale of stray animals and property taken adrift, become a part of the Common School Fund of the State.

Veterinarian Board Excess Fees.

Under an act approved March 4, 1905, providing for a State Board of Veterinary Medical Examiners, after providing for a certain registration and other fees, and the payment of expenses necessarily incurred by the board, it is provided that "All moneys received by the board as fees in excess of the compensation and expenses of said board and Secretary, shall be paid into the State Treasury for the benefit of the Common School Fund of the State, and all penalties imposed by this act shall also, when collected, be paid into this fund."

Our investigation shows that only $8.82 has accreted to the Common School Fund, which was included in the distribution of 1908.

NOTE: The fees of the State Veterinarian should not be confused with the fees of the State Board of Veterinarian Examiners. That officer is not even a member of the Veterinarian Board.

Optometry Surplus Fees.

Under the provisions of an act approved March 9, 1907, creating a Board of Registration and Examination in Optometry, in the section covering compensation and expenses, and providing for payment of the prosecution of violations of the act, and the annual report to the Governor on the first Monday in January, it is provided, "That all moneys in excess of $500, as shown by such report, on hand and unexpended, shall be paid into the Common School Fund."

Our investigation shows the following payments under the law, as accretions to the Common School Fund, viz.:

1910	$336 16
1913	228 93
1914	400 08
		$965 17

all of which was distributed to the counties in January, 1917.

Hydrophobia Fund.

The act approved March 2, 1911, provided for the annual payment by the county auditor to the Auditor of State of 5 per cent of the surplus dog tax collected from the townships of the county.

This becomes a state fund to provide means to give the Pasteur treatment to persons infected with hydrophobia.

The act provides that, if at the end of the fiscal year, such fund shall exceed $3,000, the surplus shall be turned into the School Fund of the State.

Our investigation shows the following accretions to the fund from annual excess of the Hydrophobia Fund, viz.:

1915	364 96
1916	531 10
		$3,410 25

which were included in the distribution of January, 1917.

Transient Merchant's License.

This fee, which is likewise reported by the county auditor in his annual report to the Superintendent of Public Instruction, is authorized under a law without the Governor's signature, March 12, 1901. The act has been declared constitutional, and all fees collected under the act must be paid into the Common School Fund of the State.

The provisions of the act concerning the transient merchant are renewed under the "Gentry Act." (Acts 1917, p. 134.)

Exhibition License.

Under the provisions of the "Gentry Act" (Acts 1917, p. 134) all sorts of menageries, circuses, and exhibitions are required to pay a fixed license fee per diem, and each theater and moving picture show shall pay an annual license fee of $5.00 per year.

This act went into effect, under proclamation of the Governor, on May 31, 1917, 8:20 a. m.

The act repealed the acts of June 15, 1852, and that of 1857, which provided that the license fees collected should be paid to organized agricultural societies of the county, and instead it now becomes a part of the Common School Fund.

These accretions are included in the auditor's report to the Superintendent of Public Instruction.
